FAST STEPPING BY CONGRESS REVIVES HOPES EARLY END

HOUSE REVERTS TO UNANIMOUS CONSENT ACTION; SENATE ON TAX BILL

WASHINGTON, April 5. (P)—Fast stepping by congress of late, and today was no exception, impelled Speaker Rainey to speak hopefully again of "getting out of here by May 15."

The senate still was working willingly on the tax bill, possibly to vote it back to the house late in the day.

And the representatives, upon whom the white-thatched Rainey looks from his dais so constantly, had another one of those "unanimous consent" periods.

Beforehand, there was some wonder whether it again would be difficult to get the house acting with the unanimity required for approval of the insignificant bills so handled.

Rainey was all optimism. He spoke to reporters of the house making rapid headway, a rest from tonight until Monday being planned.

As necessary enactment before adjournment, the bill, continuation of the guarantee bank deposit legislation, a deficiency bill containing about $1,500,000,000 for public works and the District of Columbia supply bill and probably the communications commission bill asked by President Roosevelt and commodity exchange regulation.

With regard to the stock market, the present bill had a lacing in the forenoon from a friend of regulation—Samuel Untermyer, counsel 30 years gone in the United States study.

The marginal section, said he, to a closing meeting of the senate committee, was deflationary, drafted on a "false basis," and could be reframed to vest in the federal reserve board.

After an hour on the "consent calendar," the house returned to the bill guaranteeing the principles of home loans. Since the procedure forbade amendments, the republicans and a number of democrats were barred from an attempt to reinstate an amendment by Senator Norris (R-Neb.) requiring that home loan employees should be selected without consideration to partisan politics.

More of Spectacular. There was more of the spectacular at Senator Huey Long's hearing on his opposition to an administration appointment in Louisiana.

The irrepressible legislator invited counsel for the administration "step aside" to the room. The crowd, an audience waited, but nothing happened.

In course of the examination, Long commented that he had been in a race track in my life. I never placed a bet on a horse race.

In connection with commodity exchange regulation, a house committee received a letter from legislation than the Jones bill to

NEW HONOR FOR "EAGLE'S" MATE

Entering aviation's Hall of Fame in her own right, Mrs. Anne Morrow Lindbergh becomes the first woman to receive the Hubbard Gold Medal of Honor from the National Geographic Society at Washington. The award was made in recognition of Mrs. Lindbergh's achievement as a radio operator and navigator for her husband during 40,000 miles of flying. Dr. Gilbert Grosvenor made the presentation.

INSULL PREPARING WRITE MEMOIRS OF MEMORABLE FLIGHT

TURKISH GOVERNMENT PREPARING TO HAVE FUGITIVE READY WHEN CALLED FOR

By PRISCILLA RING (Associated Press Foreign Staff.)

ISTANBUL, Turkey, Apr. 5.—(P)—Samuel Insull spent today writing notes for his memoirs so the world will have his side of a spectacular story.

Sitting under guard in a hospital ward, he jotted memoranda of his desperate flight from American authorities.

The Turkish government, which stopped the flight unceremoniously, sought to sweep away the last legal cobwebs and have him ready for the United States when it comes to get him.

Public Prosecutor Kena announced that Istanbul legal authorities were examining the new protocol by lawyers against Insull's arrest. He reaffirmed that the penal tribunal had definitely rejected a petition for an appeal.

During the night, the travel-weary Chicagoan received word from his London agents that an additional $10,000 had been made available for his use in continuing the last-ditch struggle against extradition to the United States.

Cherished by the message, Insull spent the evening writing letters and making notes for his memoirs. He remained under guard in a

Believed Barrow Was in Ft. Worth Thursday Morning

FORT WORTH, April 5.—(P)—All police cars were ordered out in search of Clyde Barrow and Bonnie Parker who today were believed to be somewhere in Fort Worth.

A man and woman fitting their descriptions drove into the garage of the Mistletoe Apartments, about 10:30 a. m., and asked L. C. Smith, negro janitor, if that was the Lindbergh apartments.

"Don't you lie to me nigger," said the man who was driving the car. "We're supposed to meet someone here."

Smith finally convinced the couple they were at the wrong place. "Don't tell anybody we were here or what we wanted," warned the man as he backed out of the driveway, "or we'll come back and kill you."

The negro looked inside the car and saw a rifle on the woman's lap.

The couple were in a V-8 sedan with wire wheels, the same type of car which Barrow and the Parker woman were using Sunday when they killed two state highway patrolmen near Grapevine.

The negro said the woman was red-haired and wore smoked glasses. The man had black hair, parted on the side.

City detectives went to the Lindbergh apartments, but found that all of the tenants had long been residents of the building. No suspicious persons were there this morning.

HARRISON TELLS LONG STANDING IN SENATE NOT GOOD

MISSISSIPPI AND LOUISIANA SENATORS IN HOT EXCHANGE THURSDAY

WASHINGTON, April 5. (P)—Antagonism between Huey Long and administration leadership burst forth in the senate today with Pat Harrison of Mississippi saying "the opinion of the senator from Louisiana is less respected by the membership of this body as a whole and by the country than any other senator here."

The two outspoken legislators had been in several lesser disputes a while before at a senate finance committee hearing on the confirmation of D. D. Moore as internal revenue collector in Louisiana, opposed by Long.

Edward Righor, Moore's attorney, was invited by Long to "go outside" after Righor had said the Chamber of Commerce but that organization had no selfish motives in calling it, and had no axes to grind. The object, he said, was to make Corsicana a better town in which to live and in which to make a living.

The secretary-manager declared that his hearers were dependent upon the town for their living, and that in a conceivable effort when all are of one mind and motive, there is more strength, than when each man is working individually.

Depression is over. The speaker pointed out that the depression is over, as was evidenced last week by the success of the automobile and merchandising show, which would do credit to a town of 100,000.

Mr. Harrison said that the city are badly in need of refurnishing and refurbishing.

ACTIVE RENOVIZE CAMPAIGN PLANNED BY LOCAL ARTISANS

MEETING AT CITY PARK ON WEDNESDAY EVENING IS LARGELY ATTENDED

Between 70 and 80 Corsicana craftsmen and artisans met at 6 o'clock Wednesday night at the city park shelter house, and laid plans to create jobs to capitalize on the millions of dollars of government money that will pour into the city and county during the remainder of the year. They were guests of the Chamber of Commerce, and the meeting followed the serving of a Dutch lunch.

Harry C. Howard, Chamber of Commerce secretary-manager, presided. Talks were made by Lowry Martin, L. K. Carraway, W. M. Spear, F. W. Smith, and others.

In calling the meeting to order, Mr. Howard said it was called by the Chamber of Commerce but that organization had no selfish motives in calling it, and had no axes to grind. The object, he said, was to make Corsicana a better town in which to live and in which to make a living.

The secretary-manager declared that his hearers were dependent upon the town for their living, and that in a conceivable effort when all are of one mind and motive, there is more strength, than when each man is working individually.

FOUR DROWNED IN TEXAS; OKLAHOMA BODIES RECOVERED

ELEVEN BODIES RECOVERED AND SIX STILL MISSING ALONG THE WASHITA

By The Associated Press. Texas entered into the nation's flood picture today with four victims, as eleven bodies were recovered in a Western Oklahoma flood in which nearly a score may have perished.

As was the case in the Oklahoma flood, which centered around Elk City and Hammon and Southwest Texas deaths near Menard occurred when a stream, usually shallow, became a torrent because of heavy rains.

C. P. Smith, district federal engineer, reported that Oklahoma flood damage at $625,000.

It was estimated that damage of several million dollars was done in northern and western Wisconsin by rain and melting snow. Nine persons died.

Seven channel projects on the upper Mississippi were enlarged today when the river reached a high stage and continued its rise.

Waters were receding in Connecticut.

Storms in Ohio caused damage estimated at $1,000,000. A man was killed by lightning at Canton.

In Kansas the rains continued but were less serious. Farmers expected their crops to benefit.

Snow held up highway and air traffic in the Rocky Mountain region and lay as deep as 15 inches in places in the Dakota hills.

In the east ten families near Hartford, Conn., and their homes on ten Connecticut rivers more than two feet above flood stage.

ELK CITY, Okla., April 5.—(P)—Eleven bodies had been recovered today as the receding Washita river gave up the victims of its disastrous rampage.

Six persons still were missing as boats piled the flood washed area.

The bodies were found along a ten-mile stretch of the river. Those found:

Mrs. Arthur Adams and her daughter, Opal 18; Edith 13; Lola 5; and Audrey 10. Two other daughters, believed drowned, have not been found.

Mrs. L. L. Fenter, 35; Stella Mae Fenter, 12, and Levi Fenter, 10, of Fenter, Okla., filling station operator and one daughter are missing.

Mrs. Lawrence Taylor, 35; Loretta Taylor, 12 and Lorena Burns.

The missing include Fenter, daughter; Velita Adams, one Williams Adams, 6, and Edith Adams, 13; Mr. and Mrs. Leo Bush.

Saw Family Float Away. Two sons of Bush, Woodrow and Fred, were seen. They said they saw the rest of the family float away. A third son, Emory, who was not in the house at the time, was also safe.

AMERICAN INDUSTRY PAYROLLS REACHED NEW HIGH FOR MONTH OF FEBRUARY REPORTS SHOW

Passenger Lost Colombian Plane Reported Alive

CALL, Colombia, April 5.—(P)—Newton C. Marshall, of Milwaukee was reported found alive today, the only survivor of an airplane crash on March 10 in the Andes. The report of the discovery was made officially by the Bolivian department.

It was said that five bodies were found in the cabin of the airplane, the von Krohn of the Beagle airline.

Details of how Marshall may have survived three weeks in the jungle after the crash were not immediately available.

There was confusion here over the reported finding of Marshall alive and five other occupants of the plane dead, for on March 10, when the plane took off on a flight in the wild Choco district of western Colombia it was reported to be carrying four persons.

They were Marshall; the pilot, Capt. Walter Geck and two other passengers, Julio Zuniga, employee of the Choco Intendencia, and an unidentified German.

A large shipment of gold also was supposed to be on board the plane.

For many days after the plane disappeared, military commercial craft went up in search of it, but nothing was found and the serial search finally was abandoned.

The region is mountainous and filled with heavy jungle growth

Bank at Marble Falls Robbed At Lunch Hour Today

MARBLE FALLS, April 5.—(P)—The State Bank of Marble Falls was robbed of $1800 today.

The money, all in currency, was stolen from a teller's cage while Ernest Fowler, cashier, was at lunch. Upon leaving he locked the front door but the robbers broke through it.

Officers were without clues.

Ferguson Says Special Session Is Only Dream

DALLAS, April 5.—(P)—James E. Ferguson, husband of Gov. Miriam A. Ferguson, branded as "a dream" reports that a special session of the state legislature might be called to set up an oil and gas commission apart from the state railroad commission.

"Governor Ferguson has no intention of calling a special session for this or any other purpose," he said.

Ferguson took occasion to say that the $1,500 reward of the state for the apprehension of Clyde Barrow, Raymond Hamilton and Bonnie Parker was inadequate.

"We ought to be able to offer at least twice that amount to get the best results," he said. "However, we didn't have enough money in the law enforcement fund to make the reward larger than we did."

LOCAL BUSINESS CONDITIONS SHOW STEADY INCREASE

CONSERVATIVE BUT CONSISTENT IMPROVEMENT FOR EACH MONTH OF 1934

Business conditions in Corsicana have shown a conservative but consistent improvement each month of 1934, and the city is steadily ahead of the corresponding months in 1933 according to a survey of varied lines of merchandising along with other indicators that might determine the trend of the times.

Bank clearings have shown a consistent gain each week of $125,000 to $250,000 over the same weeks of last year, and since they are made up of the totals of the customers' checks handled by the banks, the result that considerably more money is in circulation than last year.

All lines of business have shown nice gains each month over last year. During the past two weeks the clothing and shoe business has shown a prodigious jump over the Easter period of 1933.

Hundreds of people visited in Corsicana last week and dry goods and shoe retailers were forced to operate at top speed to handle the volume of business.

Gains Over Last Year. In some other lines, there was a slight lull near the Easter season as the industry of the interest was centered on clothes.

STEEL INDUSTRY TRAINS BIG GUNS ON WAGNER BILL

MEASURE CALLED VICIOUS, DESTRUCTIVE AND GROSSLY UNFAIR

WASHINGTON, April 5.—(P)—The steel industry massed its mammoth weight today against the Wagner bill to outlaw company-dominated unions, terming the measure "vicious," "destructive" and "grossly unfair" in testimony before the senate labor committee.

Spokesmen were Ernest T. Weir, chairman of the National Steel Corporation; Arthur H. Young, vice president of the United States Steel Corporation, and Charles R. Hook, president of the American Rolling Mill Company.

Weir, whose opposition to NRA labor policies has been taken to court by the government, contended that "industry can not function under such a handicap as would be imposed" by the bill.

Young said advocates of the measure were union officials, government officials and college professors.

Hook asserted the legislation would tend to destroy industrial peace and democracy.

Opposition also was voiced by Jack Larkin, chairman of the Employers' Organization at Weir, who asserted the national labor board had kept in touch

NEW DRIVE LAUNCHED TO CUT DOWN GERMANY'S DEBTS WHEN FOREIGN CREDITORS CONFER

BERLIN, April 5.—(P)—Vice-Chancellor Franz von Papen's newspaper Germania joined today the chorus crying for further scaling down of German debt at the forthcoming transfer conference between the reichsbank and agents of foreign creditors.

Cancellation of a "considerable" part of Germany's debt—estimated at 12,800,000,000 marks (about $5,120,000,000)—is suggested by the newspaper.

"It should be possible to arrive at such an agreement with the creditors," Germania contends, "because the governments, banks and private lenders, extended the money."

Putting it up to Germany's creditors to assist for "their own interests," the newspaper urged creditors to consider placing at Germania's disposal large credits to finance Germany's imports.

The Von Papen organ's proposal is in the heels of intimations by Dr. Hjalmar Schacht, president of the reichsbank, that he will demand concessions at the forthcoming meeting.

He is expected to call attention to Germany's losses of gold and foreign exchange reserves—including a decline of more than 10,000,000 marks (about $4,000,000) since last week.

Last week's bank report shows currency coverage to be down to 245,000,000 marks ($86,000,000) as against 426,000,000 marks at the end of 1933.

Further, its bank note coverage has declined from 10.9 per cent to 6.07 per cent within the last three months.

Foreign circles point out, however, that when Dr. Schacht has had his say, representatives of the medium and long-term creditors attending the meeting will have some replies already prepared.

Probably the mention of Germania's new industrial expansion program as one possible reason for the reduction in the reserve. The German budget has been increased about 900,000,000 marks. A considerable portion is for defense.

No date has been set for the meeting. It is expected to be held some time this month.

Navarro County Man Gets General Parole

AUSTIN, April 5.—(P)—Governor Miriam A. Ferguson today granted two full pardons and conditional pardons and 12 general paroles to Texas convicts.

Among the paroles listed was one for Herman Chandler, Navarro county, convicted in February, 1932, and sentenced to five years. Chandler is a negro.

RICHLAND CHILD SERIOUSLY INJURED WHEN HIT BY AUTO

Imogene Crocker, six-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. T. Crocker, near Richland, is in a serious condition in the P. and S. hospital as a result of injuries received about 1:30 Thursday afternoon when she was hit by an automobile at McGee's filling station on this side of Richland. The car that struck the child was driven by T. J. Hudgins, of Hunkerford, (Wharton county), Tex.

Mr. Hudgins stopped and rendered assistance, and returned to Corsicana and made a voluntary statement to Chris L. Knox, assistant district attorney, and offered his assistance to the attending physician.

Hospital attaches reported the child has a severe head injury, but it was too early at press hour to determine if it was a skull fracture or brain concussion. She also had bad hip and back abrasions, but apparently no internal injuries.

A passing motorist brought the child to the hospital here. Her father is a CWA worker.

WORK PROJECTS OF ALL KINDS SOUGHT FOR RELIEF PLANS

EXCELLENT OPPORTUNITY FOR COMMUNITIES TO SECURE IMPROVEMENTS

Work projects of all kinds are being sought by L. L. Prince, Navarro county project engineer for the Texas Relief Commission, this official announced Thursday and asked that all communities and individuals having worthwhile projects to submit them at once so that ample work would be available when the new system is inaugurated on April 16.

The main purpose of the new system is to supply the work necessary for a man to secure the cash needed for his support under the new budget plan which allows one-third work relief and two-thirds in material relief.

Excellent Opportunity. An excellent opportunity is confronting the people of Corsicana and Navarro county Mr. Prince said Thursday, and with a two weeks lull in the normal activities a number of projects should be submitted in proper form.

Crews of former projects which were curtailed by decreased quotas was urged along with extensions of projects almost completed.

GREATER REGULATION AND RATE REDUCTION PRESSED FOR PUBLIC UTILITIES AT NUMEROUS POINTS

By The Associated Press. Although the spotlight on the public utilities battle front is thrown on New York today with Governor Herbert H. Lehman and members of the legislature insisting on a far flung investigation of all utility companies as a result of the sensational "Thayer letters," nevertheless the fight for greater regulation and reduction in rates is being pressed in many parts of the country, a survey discloses.

Gov. Lehman is assured that an investigation will be voted by the legislature. His chief concern now, he said last night, is to find a man "like Charles Evans Hughes to conduct it," in order that it will be thoroughly made.

The latest development came as the Dunnigan resolution was being revised in the senate to include specifically the state's public service commission in the general investigation.

In the nation's capital the house voted yesterday a nationwide investigation of electric power rates by the federal trade commission. The resolution has already passed the senate.

The situation in New York was brought to a head by the publication last week in Washington of letters, purported to have been written by State Senator Warren T. Thayer in 1927 and 1928, when he was chairman of the senate public service committee, to the Associated Gas and Electric company, which asked if his work had been "satisfactory" and pointed out that "detrimental bills" had been killed in his committee. The senate judiciary committee will begin investigation of the letters Monday.

In addition Gov. Lehman's eleven bills for utilities reform in

Unusually Heavy Rains In Texas; Four Are Drowned

(By The Associated Press.) Unusually heavy rains drenched most of Texas last night and swollen creeks in Southwest Texas took four lives.

Mr. and Mrs. S. P. Carroll and a ranch man named Welch were drowned when Saline Creek washed away their home near Menard and Mrs. D. Teal 18; lost her life when she tried to escape from her stalled automobile in a creek near Llano.

Fort Worth had 72 inch, accumulated by an electrical storm, and automobiles were stalled and some property damage done by a downpour of more than two inches at Dallas. Denton reported more than an inch, Corsicana 95 inches, Tyler 4 inches, Austin 1.03 and Galveston .63.

Light rains averaging one-quarter of an inch fell from Amarillo south to Childress and from Childress north to Pampa. Brownwood has 1.20 inches and heavy rains over the watershed were expected to cause a rise in Lake Brownwood.

Crops were aided materially by 2.31 inches at Paris. Houston had .78 inch and San Antonio .60.

REPAIRS ON COURT HOUSE TO CONTINUE UNTIL COMPLETED

PROJECT ENGINEER RECEIVES WORD FROM AUSTIN TO THAT EFFECT

Extensive repairs on the Navarro county courthouse will be continued without interruption until completion, according to information received by L. L. Fawcett, project engineer for the Navarro project from state headquarters in Austin.

Sixty-two men have been assigned to work under the direction of General Superintendent of Construction, Mr. Fawcett, and the project engineer for the Navarro project from state headquarters in Austin.

Work was stopped last week when the general shutdown order was issued by the state. An emergency proposal was put forth for this week for 15 men in order to get the work at a stage where the danger of collapsing of the eastern walls and foundations would be eliminated.

The announcement Thursday will cause the continuation of the repairs at the courthouse without interruption of the excavation work under the eastern wing of the courthouse foundations has been completed and some of the concrete shoulders and additional foundations would be eliminated.

CONGRESS

The committee from "control of the country" is now working on their lives. This was the position of the Farmers' Holiday association of Texas and the National Farmers' Union.

Still further industrial opposition to the Wagner labor board has accumulated. E. T. Weir, much-publicized chairman of the Weirton Steel because of his opposition to some NRA features, testified the average employee joins a union only because organizers tell him he has to do so to hold his job in case the shop is unionized.

The many other developments that were watched by springtime throngs of visitors included:

Special Status. The committee gave special legislative status to the bill to continue federal vocational education three years.

The house immigration committee approved the bill to restrict habitual communists of aliens from Canada and Mexico to work in the United States.

The house for the second time turned down the bill to provide for the fire sufferers and thereby killed the measure for this session.

The investigating committee concerned considered the bill to ask the William Wirt of Indiana, appear late next week to testify about his "brain trust" allegations.

Chairman Eulink said "I don't know if this investigation should be long."

Once his hearing was recessed, Senator Long repaired to the senate and launched another speech advocating heavier taxes on the wealthy. The galleries were filled with springly dressed visitors.

Criticism Market Bill. WASHINGTON, April 5.—(P)—The criticism of the stock market control bill was voiced to the senate banking committee today by Samuel Undermyer, one of the foremost advocates of federal regulation of the exchange.

The short, heavy set lawyer who served as counsel for the famous Pujo Banking inquiry in the house 20 years ago, recommended many changes in the bill including drastic modification of the supervision of margin requirements be vested with the federal reserve board instead of attempting to write the workers of this country because he has failed in those efforts through the labor board as it is now constituted," he said, "and the workers at Weirton are vigorously opposed to it."

T. M. Girdler, president of the Republic Steel Corporation, told the committee that "if the Wagner bill is part of a new deal, it is certainly not part of a fair deal."

Sick and Convalescent. Ross Harris, superintendent of the I. O. O. F. Home was reported to be considerably improved Thursday, following a severe case of influenza for the past few days.

Mrs. Thomas Hanks was admitted to the Navarro Clinic Thursday morning.

Ruth Wentworth, who was injured Easter Sunday when she was run over by an automobile, was about the same today at the Corcoran Hospital and Clinic.

Mrs. Harold Stockton of Mexico, operated on at the Navarro Clinic Wednesday morning, is reported doing nicely Thursday.

Mrs. Mary Watkins, mother of Mrs. H. R. Stroube, operated on at the Navarro Clinic some time ago for appendicitis, is convalescing nicely.

Senate Rejected Income Tax Hike

WASHINGTON, April 5.—(P)—The senate today rejected a proposal to increase from 4 to 6 percent the existing normal income tax and to levy surtaxes ranging from 6 to 71 percent as against an existing range of 1 to 50 percent.

It was offered by Senator La Follette (R-Wis.) and the senate retained the less severe finance committee schedule calling for a flat 4 percent normal rate and surtaxes ranging from 5 to 50 percent.

The committee surtaxes run through 28 brackets as compared with 28 in the house bill and begin the 5 percent on net incomes between $4,000 and $6,000 and reach 50 percent on those over $100,000.

The vote against the La Follette bill was 47 to 36.

The roll call on the La Follette proposal included:

BUSINESS

but every line reports gains over last year. The gains are variously reported from seven to twenty per cent.

Reports that the merchants are universally more optimistic, and are in much better financial condition, many of them being able to pay their merchandise accounts monthly. The banks also report that there has been a slight but noticeable demand for money during the year, a condition in decided contrast to 1933 when for the most part money was a drug on the market.

Auto Sales Gain. Automobile sales showed a decided gain in March 1934 over the same month for last year, showing a total of 18 units as compared with 15 units for 1933.

Among the prime factors responsible for the betterment of economic condition is the fact that farmers of Navarro county have reported that they have sold 213 from the 1933 cotton plow-up campaign, in addition to unusual prices for the harvested staple. The million dollar figure is approximately the final report on the 1933 campaign since only one of two checks remain to be received by those who plowed up or held options on cotton. The plow-up receipts were $905,371, and the option payments were $146,842.

Oil Well Equipment. During the past few weeks an increased demand for oil well equipment and drilling machinery has resulted in an increase in the number of men employed by the American Well and Prospecting Company, and officials of the firm are hopeful that the improvement will be continued.

Business observers point out that it is entirely possible that the extremely dull summer months preceding the cotton harvesting period might be eliminated this year, as the cotton acreage reduction campaign proceeds are delayed, with the prospect now that about $800,000 in new money will be brought into the county in May, June, July and August to boost the buying power during the midsummer season.

WORK PROJECTS

pleted before the final shutdown. Attention was called to the fact that labor only is supplied by the new system, while materials were allowed in former applications.

Projects suggested.

Among the projects suggested as applicable in this county were the development and improvement of playground facilities for schools of the city and county, reforestation and landscaping projects, rodent control work, water and sewer extensions. The project engineer stated that work on highways and streets was limited.

Development of municipal power plants and power lines, airport improvements, street signs and the numbering of houses, identification and signs on municipal owned buildings and schools, demolition of old buildings for the salvage from them, drainage and erosion control projects, remodeling and repairing of buildings in lieu of rent development of subsistence homesteads, and similar items were suggested by the engineer.

The official urged that a number of proposals be submitted to the relief office in order to supply needed employment.

All projects will be considered strictly on a merit basis, particular attention being given to the number of men given employment.

Principals of the project itself and not the political, racial or religious aspects of the sponsors will be the controlling factor.

POLITICS at Random

By SYRON PRICE
(Chief of Bureau, The Associated Press, Washington)

POSSIBILITIES so far-flung that it is difficult to grasp them attach to President Roosevelt's statement of policy in his settlement of the automobile controversy.

Mr. Roosevelt was not merely averting a major strike, which might have discredited NRA, frightened industry in general, and crippled seriously his whole recovery program.

He was, in addition, laying down a general rule of action for all future time, with respect to the most explosive issue in the present-day relationship of capital and labor—the company union.

So bitter had become the controversy, not only industry alone but in many, that few of the insiders believed it would be possible to find a solution acceptable to both sides.

AT FIRST the disposition in Washington was to postpone the issue—to patch up some kind of armistice; to say to the industrialists and the labor leaders, "Don't be fools." But officials found the trouble too deep-seated to yield to a mere appeal to patriotism. Mr. Roosevelt was faced with a resounding challenge; and he accepted it.

Considering the difficulties of the case, and the broad implications of the result, the day he produced a solution praised by both sides may turn out to have been an historic moment in the long story of industrial evolution.

Symbols Of An Issue

IT IS significant that neither the automobile nor any other specific industry was mentioned in that portion of the President's statement which contained his declaration of principle.

The motor manufacturers and their protesting employees were no more than symbols. As a matter of fact, the same issue was promising to become much more urgent in both the steel and coal industries. From both the industrial and labor viewpoint, the motor trade simply was providing the laboratory for an experiment.

Briefly, the situation was this in many industries:

The recovery act, under which NRA functions, promised employees the right to collective bargaining, through their own chosen representatives. That provision had strong support from both labor and capital when it was under consideration.

Upon enactment of the law, several kinds of unions began recruiting. One kind was the standard union, affiliated with the American Federation of Labor. The other principal kind was the company union, organized with a greater or less degree of aid and cooperation from the employer.

The Federation of Labor began to protest that the company union, because of its connection with the employer, could not properly function as spokesman for employees. The employers responded that the Federation was trying to dictate to all labor, for its own purposes, and through labor to capital as well.

The President was asked to say whether the company union could continue in business, and in what manner.

Place Confidence In President

WHAT he replied was, in effect, that any union was legal so long as it represented the free choice of the workers; and that machinery would be created to guarantee there was no coercion and no discrimination as between the various kinds of unions.

It came down, in the end, to a question of confidence whether the promise of proper safeguards could and would be fulfilled; and both sides put their confidence in Mr. Roosevelt's word that it not only was possible, but would be done.

So passed the first major labor conflict under NRA; and unless the expectations of jubilant administration officials fail, the issue of the company union passed with it.

Dempsey Loser In Ring Battle, And To Featherweight

ALEXANDRIA, La., April 5.—(P)—The odds were about a million to one that this bird would get away with his crime—yet they caught him with the goods.

Recently, Homer Welch of De Kalb, searched every nook of his home in an effort to locate his missing ring—lost or stolen. The Welch deduced it had been stolen. And they were right.

Several days later a carpenter was repairing a roof on a nearby house. He had occasion to enter the attic. A sparrow fluttered its wings and reluctantly left its nest.

Curiosity prompted the carpenter to peer into the nest. There lay the ring. It provided a glittering surrounding for a brand new little sparrow.

Long Prairie. LONG PRAIRIE, April 5.—(P)—The Long Prairie high school celebrated Easter and April Fool Day Friday, March 30. We went to Mr. Stockton's lake. After playing ball, we ate a delicious lunch, then we cooked while at the lake. The seventh grade organized a class club. The following officers were elected: Dora Lee May, president; Joe W. Speed, secretary and treasurer; Marie Quinn, reporter, and a social committee was appointed. They discussed their class flower and color. They also elected Miss Thornton sponsor.

Chickpeas has caused quite a few people to miss school. Mr. Weldon Kerley and Mrs. H. S. Wilson are on the sick list.

In their flight. The two men were released a few miles away. Hall expressed the opinion the men were of the Clyde Barrow gang and two highly officers here were sent to the scene on advice from Dallas that Barrow and Raymond Hamilton were believed to have been in northeast Texas.

Henry Brooks, sheriff, and five deputies went from Texarkana and all available officers in Bowie county joined in the search. The automobile was trailed to Clarksville where the trail was lost. It was described as the type of motor car Barrow prefers.

Although Hall said all the robbers appeared to have been men, he declared later that one of them might have been a woman clad in a man's clothing.

GROCERY DEALERS HEAR MORE OF CODE, TO JOIN WITH WACO

SECRETARY OF STATE CODE AUTHORITY FOR GROCERY-
MEN WAS MAIN SPEAKER

Roger Q. Flournoy of Dallas, secretary of the Texas code authority for grocery men, declared in an address before the local grocers at a meeting held in the Chamber of Commerce rooms Tuesday night, that the code which was being proposed was a little trouble had been encountered in enforcing the code where the grocery men were well informed on it.

Mr. Flournoy made a brief address on the purpose of the code and then, stated that he would answer questions concerning it. A number of questions were propounded and there was considerable discussion concerning them.

Corsicana district No. 14 agreed to consolidate with the Waco district in order to reduce the expenses in connection with the operation of the code. A. H. Berry, Mexico, H. G. Brown, Corsicana, and a Mr. Rogers of Mexico, composed the District 14 code authority committee, and Mr. Brown, who represented the committee at the meeting last night, stated that it was unanimously in favor of consolidating with the Waco district.

A local code committee was then appointed. John C. Hughes, president of the Corsicana Retail Grocers Association, appointed A. B. Harshaw, Corsicana, and T. W. Fluker, of Richland, to represent the independent retail dealers, as each division of the Grocers Association is entitled to representation of the committee. R. C. Estes was appointed to represent the wholesale-retail grocers and F. E. Walker to represent the chain stores.

E. H. Alexander, field organizer for the State Retail Grocers Association, made a short talk on the work of the state and national organization and urged every groceryman in Corsicana to join the local association.

Earl Cullum, Dallas, member of the state code authority, spoke briefly on the code and explained what was being done in other states. He said that every member of the association should become active and report violations of the code as that was the only way it would be enforced. He also said that there had been little trouble in enforcing the code since the grocery men became informed on it. Local codes, he declared, are being set up as rapidly as possible and said that within a short while the state would be well organized.

Mention was made of the Texas convention of retail grocers which would be held in Houston three days starting May 21.

Believed Worry Over Exams Cause Of Co-Ed's Death

ANN ARBOR, Mich., April 4.—(AP)—Worry over examinations was blamed today for the death of Louise E. Van Ameringen, popular junior at the University of Michigan. She was found shot through the heart yesterday and a coroner's inquest indicated it was suicide.

The 20-year-old girl was the daughter of Victor E. Van Ameringen, prominent Ann Arbor attorney. Her mother found her. She left no note. Her parents said they knew of no reason for her to kill herself except possibly because of overwork. She recently took part in a class play and was preparing for four semester examinations this week.

The girl, a talented dancer, was known as an excellent scholar as well as active in extra-curricular activities.

Find Body Slain Trusty Convict In East Texas

MARSHALL, April 4.—(AP)—Mr. and Mrs. S. T. McNabb of Greenville today identified and claimed the body of their son, W. H. McNabb, Texas convict, while an investigation of his slaying near Waskom turned to the plains woods in Southeastern Harrison county where Louisiana officers Monday found a blood-spattered and bullet-riddled automobile.

Benjamin Woodall, county attorney, and John C. Sanders, sheriff, were trying to link the car with the killing by tracing its registration. No license plates were found.

A new theory advanced was that McNabb might have been the victim of gangster running liquor from Louisiana to the East Texas oil fields. An anonymous note to a Houston newspaper led officers to believe that McNabb might have been the victim of vengeance. He had held a position of trusty at the Eastman prison farm near Huntsville.

Mrs. Cleo Kirkland of Tyler, sister of the slain man, said she was sure "it was Wade."

"He was in Gladeview Thursday with his brother," she said. "He mentioned that he was hot and took off his coat. Some one called him away from his brother and he has been missing since."

McNabb was careless when the body was found.

SUPREME COURT TO REVIEW LONE STAR FORT WORTH CASE

AUSTIN, April 4.—(AP)—The supreme court today granted a writ of error in the case of the Lone Star Gas Company against Fort Worth, concerning that city's plan to purchase and operate it as a municipal proposition.

The court decided to review the litigation and finally dispose of it because of the importance of the question. The questions involved are of importance to all home rule cities.

The right of Fort Worth to take over the gas plant was upheld in the city court and the court of Civil Appeals.

The city and the company had been in a long controversy over rates charged in Fort Worth.

In its application for review by the supreme court the company pleaded that the city was without constitutional power to make the condemnation, that the property is worth $16,000,000 and the city is without funds to meet that amount.

FUNERAL SERVICES FOR TOM BRENNAN HELD WEDNESDAY

Funeral services for Tom J. Brennan, 60, 805 West Seventh avenue, who died in the P. and S. Hospital Tuesday morning shortly after 3 o'clock following a stroke of paralysis Monday afternoon while at the Navarro Cotton Oil Company plant, were held Wednesday afternoon at 3 o'clock from the Church of the Immaculate Conception with burial in the Catholic cemetery. The rites were conducted by Monsignor V. Graefeo.

Mr. Brennan was a native of Navarro county and had resided here practically all of his life. He had been superintendent of the Navarro Cotton Oil Company for the past 30 years, and was well known in cotton oil mill circles of Texas.

He was a member of the Ennis Knights of Columbus organization. Surviving are his wife, two sons, T. C. (Buddie) Brennan, Houston, and W. L. Brennan, Corsicana; a daughter, Mrs. E. R. Kemp, Erie, Pa.; four grandchildren, a brother, J. F. Brennan, Denison; and three sisters, Mrs. C. E. Huff, Longview; Mrs. J. Burkhalter, Dallas; and Mrs. Ed Sheets, Corsicana; and a number of other relatives.

Active pallbearers were E. C. Sears, Hubert Redder, W. E. Slaughter, L. U. Cole, Billy Stokes and Lynn Adams.

The funeral was directed by the Corley Funeral Home.

Father Averages Attack on Small Daughter Today

BRADENTON, Fla., April 4.—(AP)—A coroner's jury today declared the act of Joe Kopman, prominent citrus grower, in slaying a negro charged with assaulting Kopman's young daughter was "justifiable homicide."

BRADENTON, Fla., April 4.—(AP)—James Franklin, middle-aged negro accused of criminally assaulting a small white girl, was fatally shot by the father of the alleged victim today on a downtown corner. Officers at the time were returning him to jail from a doctor's office where he had undergone a physical and mental examination.

The child's father, Joe Kopman, a prominent citrus grower, was arrested by officers and removed to the county jail to await an inquest.

The attack was alleged to have occurred Saturday near the Kopman home. The negro was arrested late yesterday. Officers said he was positively identified by the alleged victim.

As Sheriff J. P. Davidson and Police Chief Clyde Benton were leaving the physician's office with the prisoner between them, they said, Kopman stepped up behind them, placed a pistol against the negro's back and fired twice in rapid succession.

Franklin died shortly after he was removed to a hospital.

At the examination, the negro was found to be in poor physical condition, but the sanity commission adjudged him sane.

Plans to Arrest Drivers Cars With Old License Plates

Sam T. Curry, constable of precinct 5, the Blooming Grove-Frost-Purdum section, stated Wednesday there were a number of automobiles being operated in that section without 1934 license plates.

The license plates now are 20 per cent higher than prior to April 1, in addition to the operators being subject to arrests and fines in justice courts.

Funeral services for Mrs. Margaret McCure Dunavant of Dallas, who died in the Methodist Hospital at Dallas Tuesday evening at 6:30 o'clock, were held from the home of her brother, M. J. McClure, 1909 West Fifth avenue, Wednesday afternoon at 3 o'clock with burial in Oakwood cemetery. The rites were conducted by Rev. Leo Johnston, pastor of the Oak Cliff Christian church.

GOVERNMENT ENDS NINE MONTHS WITH HUGE EXPENDITURES

WASHINGTON, April 3.—(AP)—The government closed nine months of the fiscal year today with expenditures of $4,848,004,000 and a deficit of $2,542,289,000.

As this was made known, the treasury was planning for a billion dollars of April financing and noting what it considered tangible evidences of business improvement.

Routine operating expenses at the close of March totaled $1,987,039,000 compared with revenue of $2,305,704,000.

Emergency outlays of $2,860,000 exceeded the amount of the deficit.

Only three months of the fiscal year remained and treasury officials conceded that emergency spending would not reach the $7,000,000 figure previously estimated for June 30.

The public debt at the close of March was $26,157,509,000 as compared with $21,362,464,000 a year ago.

The rate of spending again dropped off in March to the lowest figure since November. Total March outlays were $610,232,937 as compared with $635,321,855 in February and $980,759,087 in the peak month of January.

The emergency portion of the March spending was $449,808,000 or slightly more than February's $447,323,000.

The operating deficit in March was the smallest of any month since September because of first quarter tax payments on 1933 incomes. The March deficit was $190,129,000 as compared with $329,572,000 in February and $769,625,000 in January.

Income tax collections in March were $282,007,125, a figure below previous treasury estimates of $250,000,000. That brought revenue for March to $420,103,481 in the biggest single month in the fiscal year to date.

The Civil Works administration was the biggest emergency spender in March with $177,286,000 as compared with $150,800,000 in February. Other large emergency outlays in the month included $40,502,000 for emergency relief, $76,221,000 for the Reconstruction corporate, $27,313,000 for conservation work and $22,729,000 for public highways.

Funeral services for Mrs. Margaret McCure Dunavant of Dallas, who died in the Methodist Hospital at Dallas Tuesday evening at 6:30 o'clock, were held from the home of her brother, M. J. McClure, 1909 West Fifth avenue, Wednesday afternoon at 3 o'clock with burial in Oakwood cemetery. The rites were conducted by Rev. Leo Johnston, pastor of the Oak Cliff Christian church.

Reynolds Came Into $25,000,000 Estate Today

WINSTON-SALEM, N. C., April 4.—(AP)—Richard J. Reynolds, Jr., a young man who took to aviation, shipping and Broadway show business to earn a little change, inherited about $25,000,000 today on his 28th birthday.

The money was left in trust by his father, who built a cigarette fortune estimated at $100,000,000. So far as known all Reynolds had to do to assume control of the fortune was to sign a few papers for the safety deposit company of Baltimore, which handled distribution of the estate.

Reynolds was in seclusion with his wife and young son, Richard III, and would not tell how he planned to spend this red-letter day.

The elder Reynolds left other portions of his wealth to other children, among them the late Smith Reynolds, who suffered a fatal and mysterious bullet wound in the magnificent Reynolds home here two years ago.

Sam Rowe of Kerns was in Corsicana Thursday.

Bob Bruner was in Corsicana Wednesday from Rural Shade.

NEW REGULATIONS PROMULGATED FOR TEXAS OIL FIELDS

NO CHANGES MADE IN ALLOWABLES; COVER REFINERY OPERATIONS

AUSTIN, April 5.—(P)—The Texas railroad commission today promulgated new regulations for operators in oil fields of the state effective April 9 at 7 a.m.

However, existing allowables were not changed.

The order embraced rules governing operation of refineries, the legislature, in special session, having broadened the commission's powers to examine records of those concerns in its effort to stop the flow of illegal oil.

"In the light of recent legislative enactments, the commission thought it wise to go over all its existing rules and regulations and make such modifications and changes therein as might best be calculated to perform the duties imposed upon it by law," the commission stated.

Some of the old rules were modified or amended and some were rescinded.

The important changes included persons and organizations engaged in any phase of the petroleum industry are required to show ownership of the official person-the East Texas and Conroe, the person in charge of the name of the oil field, and the name of the person in charge of the oil field.

TEST OF NEW DEAL AT BALLOT BOX WILL START NEXT WEEK AS ILLINOIS STARTS VOTE PARADE

By NATHAN ROBERTSON

WASHINGTON, April 3.—(P)—A nation-wide ballot box test of the "new deal" will start a week from today.

Illinois workers, lining up for the first of the primaries of the national off-year elections, will inaugurate activities that will reach in the next seven months will reach in to every state. November will finish the election of 35 senators, about the same number of governors, and the entire house.

Republicans are voicing openly the hope that the usual off-year elections will restore them to many offices they lost in the Roosevelt landslide of 1932. Democrats predict that gains in the senate will offset an immaterial loss of seats in the house.

The Illinois primaries next week will mark the start, but will give little indication of the outcome of the whole race. There is neither a gubernatorial nor a senatorial contest in that state this year.

Speaker Rainey brought the white house angle strongly into the picture, however, when he reported advice from his friends that financial interests in New York were planning to donate in an effort to elect the Republican of his stand for Rooseveltian measures.

In addition the Illinois primaries will see the choosing of party house seats. In the 1932 elections, the republicans lost their majority of the Illinois house delegation when the democrats won six new seats.

The battling will get underway in earnest next month, with primaries in six states. The first come May 1, in South Dakota and Alabama, where governorships are at stake in addition to house seats.

The first senatorial contest will be reached in Indiana May 8, with Senator Robinson, republican incumbent, fighting for reelection. Mrs. Johnnie Howell of Jacksonville is visiting S. C. Howell and children.

Mrs. Jim Highnote and daughter, Emma Bell and Madge, were the dinner guests Friday of Mrs. C. H. Shappard and daughter, Andy Wayne.

Mr. and Mrs. Richard Lankford of Navarro Mills are spending this week with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. F. Griswold and daughter, Irene.

Mr. and Mrs. Claud Hollingsworth and children were the dinner guests of Mr. and Mrs. E. L. Green and family Sunday.

Mrs. Madge Highnote was in Streetman Saturday afternoon.

Mr. and Mrs. W. T. Carroll of Corsicana spent Sunday with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Dave Donahoe.

W. B. Grantham was the supper guest of Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Highnote and family Friday night.

Mrs. George Watkins of Emhouse visited her father, S. C. Howell Tuesday night.

While democratic leaders privately concede they probably will lose some seats in the house, republicans say they will gain as many as 70. Even the latter, however, would leave the democrats in control.

In the senate, the situation is far different. Thirty-five senators are up, including 17 democrats, 17 republicans and one farmer-laborite, Shipstead of Minnesota.

Six of the democrats, however, come from the so-called solid south, where even the republicans have no chance of a turn-over, while many of the republicans face their contests in closely divided states.

Representative Bailey (D-Texas) is running against Senator Connally (D-Texas).

THREE CONVICTED IN MAIL ROBBERY TRIAL ON TUESDAY

STEVENS, MAY AND PETTITJOHN CONVICTED OF ROBBERY AND CONSPIRACY

FORT WORTH, April 3.

First sentence in the Texas and Pacific mail robbery case was imposed by Judge James Wilson this afternoon on Johnny Carson, whom the jury found guilty of conspiracy to rob earlier in the day. Carson had turned state's evidence.

Imprisonment of his sentence was suspended for five years after the expiration of the 10-year term he is now serving on the Dyer act. Carson was turned over to the marshal to await order for his transfer to the federal penitentiary at Devil's Island, near San Francisco.

Sentences upon the other defendants found guilty will be imposed Saturday. C. D. Stevens, W. D. May and M. T. Pettitjohn alias Howard were found guilty on the charge of robbing a mail car of $72,000 at the Texas & Pacific terminal on the night of Feb. 1, 1933. Carson and Joe L. Martin were found guilty on the conspiracy count alone.

PORT WORTH, April 3.—(P)—O. D. Stevens, W. D. May and M. T. (Blackie) Pettitjohn, alias Howard were found guilty in federal court today of the Texas & Pacific mail robbery here on February 21, 1933.

They also were convicted of conspiracy to rob the United States mail.

Joe L. Martin and Johnny Carson were found guilty of conspiracy as charged by the court, but not of robbery.

The robbery conviction carries a maximum penalty of 25 years in the federal penitentiary. Conviction of conspiracy carries a maximum penalty of two years' imprisonment and $10,000 fine.

M. T. (Blackie) Pettitjohn and E. Claude Hill, charged with the robbery, were freed yesterday on an instructed verdict of not guilty.

Three women defendants, Mrs. Stevens, Mrs. May and Ruth Winn Howard, common law wife of M. T. Pettitjohn, previously went free on similar court instructions.

May, Harry Rutherford and Jack Sturdivant were named in testimony as the actual participants in the holdup. The bodies of Sturdivant, Rutherford and his brother, J. B. Rutherford, were found sunk in the Trinity river east of Fort Worth last July 11.

They were the alleged victims of a quarrel over division of the robbery loot. May has been given a death sentence for the murder of Sturdivant, while the murder trials of Stevens and M. T. Pettitjohn are pending.

The robbery for which Stevens and his co-defendants were tried occurred when two railway mail service employees, trundling a truck load of registered mail pouches down the tramway between the T. and P. station and the railway terminal, were held up by three men.

Postoffice inspectors attached suspicion to Stevens because of their record of his activities in new York. He has lived near Fort Worth but spent much time in New York. Inspectors first determined that it was a "local" holdup, reasoning that outsiders would not have bothered to wear masks.

The triple slaying near Handley on July 8 of last year brought the investigation to a climax.

CORSICANA, TEX., APRIL 6, 1934

"THEY SAY."

Public health authorities and reputable physicians are performing a worth while service by their warn- ings of the danger of quacks, patent medicines and get-rich-quick special- ists. These warnings cannot be given too often nor too loudly.

Man is a reasoning animal who forgets to reason when the situation most de- mands it. The trust and faith which the average per- son places in hearsay state- ments regarding patent medicine advertisements, get-rich-quick specialists and others of their ilk, is one of the paradoxes of hu- man intelligence.

Than "they say," no two words when applied to the healing art do more dam- age. "They say" prescribes more medicine than all the doctors in the country; and, incidentally, kills more peo- ple.

"They say" that a certain old lady can remove warts by pow-wow process; "they say" that the highly ad- vertised medicine in the ornate package will cure twenty different diseases; "they say" that the widely ad- vertised doctor can cure any disease in any stage. "They say" and "they say." And millions of otherwise sen- sible men and women, with- out asking other proof, look up the sorceress, patent medicine or quack and spend their money to be cured of a disease they prob- ably were never afflicted with.

The wise person will seek for more solid foundation for his health condition than "they say." When some- thing goes wrong with his physiological machinery he will consult a thoroughly competent physician.

THE RADIO AND PEACE

The hope of the League of Nations to make radio an aid to world peace may stand little chance of im- mediate realization but that it should eventually, if prop- erly controlled, prove of such help represents a not unpromising possibility.

Radio already has brought the nations of the earth into close contact. It can be used, though, no less to stir up passions and breed conflict than to broaden international under- standing and promote the ends of peace. Illustrations of the former already have been seen in Europe. Ger- many's use of the Munich station last year to further the National Socialist cause in Austria caused the latter to voice bitter protest. France also has been charged by Germany with im- properly using the French station at Strasbourg.

The league's council, seeking to prevent such mis- use of radio, has drafted a convention for submission to the nations. Countries which accept it would bind them- selves to abstain from us- ing the air to excite war- like passions and, also, to include in their programs features designed to "pro- mote better knowledge of civilization and conditions of life in other places as well as of essential features of development through mutual relations and orga- nizations of peace."

Europe, where nations with conflicting interests lie close together, offers a promising field for the league's experiment. The radio certainly has possibilities as an instrument of peace and any effort looking to a real- ization of these is meritori- ous.

Business reports are all so good lately that people won't believe them.

JUST FOLKS

(Copyright, 1932, Edgar A. Guest)

THE COMMON TOUCH
The lonely roads of pride and pomp I have no wish to fare,
Give me the lanes of tolling folk and men who wake to care,
The little streets where shirt-sleeved men make gardens after tea.
Or stand in friendly groups to chat at where I choose to be.
For life holds more than silk and wine and more than things to buy.
And they best understand its moods who do not climb too high.

Book wisdom is a haughty thing that draws itself apart.
And sometimes never sees or reads the lessons of the heart.
But on the humble streets dwell men and women very wise
In all the pain and care and doubt and sorrow that arise.
There laughter's ring is genuine and pity is expressed
In kindly, understanding deeds that soothe the aching breast.

So I would walk the lesser roads where many men abide
Who have not yet been lured away by place and pomp and pride—
For busy folk are friendly folk and quick their strength to share.
They know how heavy are the loads which most of us must bear.
Since life is more than silk and wine, in touch with life I'd keep.
And understand the human heart and know why people weep.

WAS HE BLUFFING?

A statement by M. Rosen- goltz, Soviet foreign trade commissar, may prove dis- couraging to American busi- ness interests that had ex- pected United States recog- nition to be followed by large Russian buying in American markets.

According to Commisar Rosengoltz, the Soviet Union has attained independence in the construction of equip- ment and machines and will not buy these products abroad unless credit con- ditions are "changed and im- proved."

Russia, in the last 16 years, he explained, has be- come an exporter of manu- factured goods. Previous to that time its exports had been chiefly food and raw materials.

"Soviet machine construc- tion should satisfy the whole demand of the na- tional economy in the sec- ond five-year period," said the commissar. "But if we get long-term loans with normal low interest, we might possibly increase im- ports."

The latter part of his statement may cast doubt on the accuracy of the first part and cause one to be- lieve that M. Rosengoltz may have been indulging a little in what Americans call bluff. If Russia is cap- able of supplying all of its needs, why should it make any purchases abroad even at low interest rates?

FRANCE MAY DEVALUE

France is operating its government on borrowed money. Business is bad, debt rises and there is rebellion against taxes. Premier Dou- mergue, given power to bal- ance the budget and deflate prices, is going ahead on that principle. But there are plenty of critics in France, as there were in this coun- try, to maintain that the country cannot stand any more deflation—that it needs reflation.

The most "radical" part of this group seems to be made up of industrialists. They want to revive by de- valuing the franc, just as we devalued the dollar. A former minister of finance finds no argument against this procedure in the fact that France cut the franc to one-fifth of its value in 1928. That, he says, is "a past event," and "does not vaccinate us against the world crisis, which has un- dermined the bases of the two greatest, strongest cur- rencies in the world—the pound and the dollar."

All this sounds familiar. Economic problems in all the industrial countries are much alike. If France does devalue its gold franc, it will aim at parity with current values of the pound and franc. That would make it pos- sible for France, Britain and America to stabilize their currencies on the same gold level. And that, in turn, would be a big help to international finance and trade.

Chicago is talking of re- counting 1,664,000 ballots cast in the 1932 election. Un- less this is a "made work" project, why not follow Philadelphia's ancient sys- tem of weighing them?

HERE HE COMES!—THAT GREAT BIG MAN FROM THE SOUTH!

—By Clive Weed

REAL PROGRESS

Recent statistics from many sources indicate that, in climbing out of the de- pression, this country is back now as far as the busi- ness level of 1931. It would not have looked very good from that vantage point of 1929. We don't like that level in 1931. But when we consider where we were at the beginning of 1933, it looks pretty good. And it looks still better if you be- lieve in the good old prin- ciple that it never matters so much where you are at the moment as in what di- rection you are headed, and with what speed. We are headed this spring for bet- ter times, at a fast clip.

Employment is rising. Wages are rising. Sales are rising. Profits in many cases are still small; but profits may rise through greater volume of sales, or higher prices, or both.

Many of us are still sus- picious of this improvement, remembering how business shot forward last spring and summer and then fell back. Conditions seem to be re- ally different now. We are rising on a sort of ground swell of world-wide econo- mic improvement. That gives us a good foundation. Our own efforts, private and governmental, are helping along our national recovery. The government is beginning to bring up some of its big- gest guns, in the form of money and credit for heavy industries. A building move- ment is starting at last. La- bor troubles seem to be sub- siding. The automobile in- dustry is leading a proces- sion of reviving industries. This may be, and probably is, the real thing.

BERLIN YIELDS

An important victory must be credited to President Roosevelt in the agreement reached between Germany and the latter's foreign creditors. It was due chiefly to the president's interven- tion, on behalf of the Ameri- can purchasers of German government and municipal bonds, that Berlin modified its former decision which discriminated against Ameri- can and English creditors in favor of Dutch and Swiss in- terests.

Under the new agree- ment, the discrimination is to cease and all creditors are to be placed on an equal footing. The victory was im- portant not only in its im- mediate bearings, but as evidence that the United States has ready a line of argument that may prove useful in the future.

Mr. Kipling says authors can't lie. Rudyard, did you ever read a dog story?

MOUNTING FIRE LOSS

Having had an unusually severe winter the United States can expect an ab- normally high fire loss for the year. Stoves, furnaces and boilers form the great- est fire hazard, therefore greater fire losses are a nat- ural consequence of low temperatures and high winds.

It may be paradoxical but the more people remain in- doors the greater the num- ber of fires, so a severe win- ter swells the fire losses for another reason. Wherever people smoke they start fires—burning their homes, offices, stores and factories in winter and their forests and fields in summer. As long as man smokes there will be smoking ruins. In 12 states the smoker is the chief cause of fires.

Financial troubles brought about by the depression ac- count for the fact that in the last 12 months incen- diarism was responsible for greater fire losses than any one thing in 14 states. Busi- ness establishments facing bankruptcy, tenants fearing dispossession, mortgagors seeing nothing ahead but foreclosure and the crazed driven by imaginary wrongs took the firebrand's way out.

New York's police com- mission has decreed that hereafter no policeman will be permitted to pose for newspaper photographs, no matter how courageous an act he may have performed. But, of course, they will not be responsible if they are snapped without their knowledge.

A pedestrian, says the Michigan supreme court, has the right in starting to cross a street as the traffic light changes to complete the trip without running. There is no assurance, though, that motorists agree to this interpretation of law.

The Ohio liquor control board has issued an edict prohibiting women from working in liquor stores. The cocktail-mixing experi- ence gained by members of the fair sex goes for naught when it comes to getting a job.

The iron and steel code forbids lower water-haul rates than railroad rates, and shippers want to know what's the good, then, of building waterways?

After they squeeze all the gold out of the sea water, they may squeeze all the water out of gilt-edge stock.

About the only thing the public agrees on is that all taxes are nuisances.

ART

Leaders in art movements in the United States foresee a renaissance of art in America, one pinning his hopes for an aesthetic re- vival on the soaring spirit of modern youth, another al- ready glimpsing it in the erection of picturesque sky- scrapers and in cultural cur- rents of modern life.

While the machine age stunts the growth of art it also produces youthful pio- neers in new fields of aspi- ration whose achievements are underscored with the virility of idealism. Current art activities, civic projects and new facilities for aes- thetic training, in education- al institutions through the country are evidence of a fresh interest in the arts and pronounced trend to their renewed development.

Art has ever been the in- dex of civilization. Material progress, while invaluable to the growth of nations, is not directly allied with the expression of the aesthetic impulse. It may and does profit by it handsomely but it encourages it only through the medium of patronage. It is true that wealth brings with it opportunity and incentive to cultural avocation and procurement of noble treasures and that these activities stimulate the artistic feeling.

Having attained the ap- proximate peak of its ma- terial development, Ameri- ca can give more and more attention to its cultural de- velopment, which means the approach of a time when the world must concede that the United States is some- thing more than the easiest place in which to make a living.

NEW MANAGER FOR J. C. PENNEY IS MOST OPTIMISTIC

ROY E. WILLIAMS

Roy E. Williams, new manager of the J. C. Penney Company store here, Tuesday expressed an optimistic outlook for business conditions in Corsicana, and stated that his store showed a 60 per cent increase in sales in March this year, over the same month last year. Several salespeople have already been added to the staff of the Corsicana store.

Mr. Williams came to Corsi- cana from Wichita Falls, where during his 26 months as manager, his store's sales led the entire South. The new Penney manager has been with the company for the past 10 years, and he has made an enviable record during that time. Mr. Williams, his wife and two children have taken up their permanent residence in Corsicana.

RELIEF BURDEN IS NOW BASED ON THREE DISTINCT PROGRAMS

TERMINATION OF CWA AC- TIVITIES CHANGES SITU- ATION MATERIALLY

With the complete termination of CWA activities on April 1, the burden of supplying relief to indigent families of Texas falls on the shoulders of three programs to be conducted by the Texas Relief Commission—work division or work relief, direct relief, sub-sistence homesteads and rural rehabilitation projects—according to Judge C. F. Rogers, field representative of the Texas Relief Commission, who was in Corsicana Wednesday afternoon.

The successful carrying out of the programs in Navarro county has entailed the creation and installation by the auditing department of the Texas Relief Commission of a materially changed accounting system. The new system was made under the supervision of George R. Donnell, auditor for the commission and bears his name.

Of particular interest in the new setup is the new "Work Relief" card which will enable the administration to properly supervise the work activities. Those unemployed who are actually destitute and physically able to work, after a thorough investigation has been made establishing their relief needs, will be given the opportunity to earn up to the estimated requirements. The card is so designed as to limit payrolls to the actual relief requirements for each individual, and pay to persons not eligible for relief at all.

Certifying Officer. Staff Auditor E. E. Morgan of the Texas Relief Commission was in Corsicana Wednesday and after a conference with W. E. Pugh, county chairman, announced that the new system had been installed and Sam J. Jennings would take charge of the new set-up in Corsicana as the certifying officer under Administrator W. D. Robinson.

Chief Auditor Donnell emphasizes that this is a relief program, not a project program. Under the CWA, a group employment was provided which approximated current business wages, whereas the present relief program can only supply relief to the destitute. When the building of rural schoolhouse construction or other projects takes the place of the first objective, that of giving relief, the relief program has gone astray, and such expenditures constitute an erroneous expenditure of funds according to the terms of the Relief Acts under which relief funds are made available.

Three Negroes Die In Chair For Attacking Women

NASHVILLE, Tenn., April 8.—(P)—Three Shelby county (Memphis) negroes died in the electric chair at the state penitentiary Wednesday.

They were Percy Smith, 20, who earlier signed a confession to attacking a white woman, and Frank May, 20, who was convicted of attacking a young woman in north Memphis in September, 1932, after robbing and shooting her escort.

Graham and Mays repeatedly insisted they were innocent as they awaited electrocution.

Hollie Archibald, whom the negroes allegedly wounded, and the young woman whom they were convicted of attacking, confronted the two in their death cell a few minutes before their execution, but the negroes reiterated earlier denials of guilt.

Asked by a minister if he "confessed to his sin" Mays said "yes," but did not specifically admit the crime of which he was convicted.

Pattern 1823

by Anne Adams

What do a few extra pounds matter when one can disguise them with a cleverly designed frock—like this, for example. It has a flattering version of the favorite jabot, to fall softly over a full bust; it has graceful sleeves to hide stout arms, and slenderizing skirt seamings to create an illusion of slenderness over the hips. It adapts itself to any number of fabrics—the lovely sheers, crepes or silks. Solid colors are always good—gray, navy, beige, and apple green are in vogue. Prints, selected wisely with an eye to their size, might be used too.

Pattern 1823 is available in sizes 24, 26, 28, 30, 32, 34, 36, 38, 40, 42, 44, 46 and 48. Size 36 takes 4-1/4 yards 38 inch fabric. Illustrated step-by-step sewing instructions included with each pattern.

LOCAL CONFERENCE METHODIST CHURCH BE HELD AT FROST

The Corsicana District conference of the Methodist church will be in session next Tuesday and Wednesday, April 10-11, and will be held at Frost.

A district conference is required under the law of the church, to diligently inquire into the spiritual state of the church, also the social meetings of the church; to look carefully into the missionary interests; and to inquire as to Kingdom extension offering.

The Sunday school work will receive attention. Financial systems being operated in the district, will be up for discussion. Church records will be examined. League work will be reported. Candidates for the ministry will be encouraged. The board of lay activities, under L. K. Carraway, will report the Advocate circulation inquired into. The Golden Cross work will be under consideration, and will be encouraged.

Eleven delegates to the annual conference to be held this fall, will be elected all of these to be laymen. This election will take place on Wednesday.

Dr. S. C. Wright, presiding elder of the Corsicana district will preside over the sessions of the conference. Dr. Wright has invited Drs. E. B. Hawk, A. J. Weeks, S. H. C. Burgin and King Vivion to be present, these to speak and preach during this conference. A great conference is expected and a full attendance is urged.

FORMER CORSICANA RESIDENT BURIED IN MARLIN THURSDAY

Funeral rites for Joe Lyons, formerly of Corsicana, who died in a Marlin sanitarium Wednesday night after a lingering illness, were held at Marlin Thursday morning at 11 o'clock with burial there.

Mr. Lyons formerly was a resident of Corsicana making his home with his son-in-law and daughter, Rev. and Mrs. John W. Fagin, Georgetown, during the period the Rev. Mr. Bergin was pastor of the First Methodist church here.

The services were conducted by Rev. W. R. Hall, pastor of the First Presbyterian church of Corsicana. Mr. Lyons was a life-long member of the Presbyterian church and was a member of the Marlin Presbyterian church when Rev. M. Hall was its pastor twenty years ago.

The funeral was directed by the Sutherland-McCammon Funeral Home of Corsicana.

PALROLLS

(Continued From Page One) business. His spokesman urged upon Hugh S. Johnson instantly their view that if there is no compulsion many industries will do the thing handsomely. With his own belief that the initiative should be on the part of industry, Johnson has found it easy to leave direct action to private interests for a time.

While Johnson's aides are going beyond present conditions to gain data on how many men in industry could possibly employ—and if not, why not—in the words of the NRA administrator—the allied commerce department concentrated on past statistics.

It noted slight declines in employment in non-manufacturing industry between the middle of January and the middle of February as offsetting but a small proportion of the loss in the factory employment. The actual gain, it added, "reversed the downward trend which had extended over a period of four months."

March Outlook. As to March possibilities, the report found that "current indications point toward further improvement in the employment opportunities in March."

It noted that cash income received by farmers from the sale of farm products rose nearly five per cent during February after allowance for the seasonal trend, and was 63 per cent above a year ago.

Production advances were not accompanied by similar advances in sales of goods, the figures indicated. The February rise in freight-car loadings was regular while retail sales figures showed marked change, except in the case of automobiles, the value of which was almost double January.

Preliminary March figures, however, indicated general retail improvement.

Gain Four Per Cent. The gain in the composite index of industrial production for the month, after allowance for the seasonal trend, was nearly four per cent, bringing the index considerably above both 1933 and 1932 and within 5 per cent of February 1931.

NRA and other administrative efforts to improve the figures this far have not been concentrated principally on two fronts.

Legislation is now being considered on Capitol Hill to follow President Roosevelt's suggestion that about $700,000,000 more capital could be used by medium-sized business to good employment effect.

An allied effort is being studied by the President's national emergency council, involving methods to spur both home construction and the heavy goods industries, which will be turned over to the NRA for administration.

UTILITIES

In many other states action is being planned toward closer regulation and reduction of rates.

Pennsylvania's public service commission this week passed a resolution proposing informal conferences with all utilities companies to make six per cent instead of seven the allowed fair return on property value.

In Michigan the state public utilities commission has just ordered a re-opening of the telephone rate case to determine the possibility of lowering rates to rural users and the feasibility of a flat rate for Detroit instead of the flat charge for a limited number of calls plus four cents for each additional call now made.

West Virginia is using a legislative appropriation of $80,000 to investigate utility rates "with the view of securing for the users of utility service a downward revision in rates" and many reductions have already been ordered.

Arkansas has a fact finding tribunal set up last year to provide cities with expert aid in rate fixing, which is now engaged in investigating the power companies. Six bills were introduced in the New Jersey legislature this week to broaden the public utility commission's powers, including the authorization to fix temporary rates pending determination of the fairness of the permanent rate structure.

In Utah the commission has cases against power and telephone companies to reduce rates. In Texas all the legislation proposed to regulate utilities companies at the last special session of the legislature was defeated.

Rate Reductions Ordered. Commissions in California and Oregon have all recently ordered rate reductions, but no legislation is pending in either of these states. Washington is investigating all privately owned companies under a law passed last year.

Disagreement in Nebraska over the extent of jurisdiction of the commission is holding up the commission's effort to exercise more power of the telephone companies.

Rhode Island has several regulatory bills in committee but action on any of them is held in

Ferguson Confers With McDonald

FORT WORTH, April 5.—(F) Former Governor James E. Ferguson who came here to confer with C. C. McDonald of Wichita Falls relative to the latter's campaign for governor, left today for Dallas.

Mr. Ferguson said he had not heard of any plans for a special session of the legislature. Dispatches from Austin said there were reports that a special session would be called by Governor Miriam A. Ferguson to create an oil and gas commission.

Ferguson predicted the election of McDonald by more than 100,000 majority.

be unlikely. Municipal ownership proposals won in six cities in Wisconsin at last Tuesday's election and list in seven others.

The Ohio legislature has a proposal before it providing for an increase in the excise tax on utility companies.

RENOVIZE

(Continued From Page One) He suggested that each man become a salesman in his own line of business; make a thorough study of his work, and then make suggestions to friends, who have work to be done.

At this point he enumerated many jobs that may be suggested and created by the local craftsmen. He declared that there was never a town that offers the opportunities Corsicana does if the craftsmen and artisans will begin an aggressive campaign, with all dealers and workmen going to lengths to co-operate with each other.

Small Loans Available. Mr. Howard told of the organization here of a Federal Home Savings and Loan Association, in which the government matches dollar for dollar with those put up by local people, and which will be available for small loans for long periods and low interest, which will enable people to have their remodeling and refurnishing done.

Lowry Martin was introduced at this time, and after outlining the hectic times of the past four years of the depression, voiced an optimistic outlook for the future. He said the time is ripe and opportunity is knocking for Corsicana craftsmen to capitalize on the government money. If he went on, we won't help ourselves, we cannot expect others to help us. The rapidity with which we affect our recovery is dependent upon our own initiative, and how aggressively we work.

Martin Urges Co-operation.

Mr. Martin said the Corsicana banks have a half million dollars more now than they had a year ago, and that if they are shown the need of work, might be influenced to encourage it by loans. "We will rise just as fast as we wish, and if we do not co-operate with each other; appreciate the Chamber of Commerce's efforts, and lay aside petty politics and jealousies, we will not be benefited by the government's aid," he said.

At this point the speaker went into considerable detail regarding the large amounts of money that will be brought into Corsicana, Navarro county and its trading territory through the five pay-day cotton plan, and other government aid agencies. He suggested a permanent organization to bring money and lay aside petty politics and jealousies, we will not be benefited by the government's aid," he said.

Carraway Explains Home Loan. L. K. Carraway, secretary of the Corsicana Federal Home Savings and Loan association was presented, and invited to explain the workings of the association.

He said to date 64 firms and individuals have contributed to the association, and now only between $750 and $800 is needed to get the charter. In the course of his remarks, Mr. Carraway said he believed that Corsicana's craftsmen represented at the meeting can promote enough jobs, after Mr. Howard's suggestion that the office will be flooded with enough applications for loans, that the "Doubting Thomases" will buy more stock in the association, and assure its charter.

Mr. Carraway said Hillsboro and a number of other towns smaller than Corsicana have perfected their organizations, and are now operating.

One Exception. "Of course the leader on this side of the aisle (Robinson of Arkansas) needs no eulogy from me because what is in my heart, and my estimate of him and his labors and services here here is shared by every member of the senate on both sides of the aisle, with possibly one exception."

Here Long interrupted: "In speaking of the leadership I am more particularly in mind, as well as anybody else, the Senator from Mississippi. I was not speaking only of the senator from Arkansas. When I speak of the leadership, I think the senator knows I certainly had him in mind for the tax policy he has pursued. He need make no defense of anyone else; let him take care of himself."

"I am glad," Harrison replied, "the senator looks on me as included in the leadership, but if others care no more about his estimate of me than I care about it, it makes no difference because in my opinion the opinion of the senator from Louisiana is less respected by the membership of this body as a whole and by the country than that of any other senator here."

FOUND ALIVE

At the time of its loss, the plane was on a flight between Quibdo and Cartago. It was traveling in the great Choco mining area where gold and platinum often is transported by airplane.

Marshall was said to have been found alive by a party of Indians searching for treasure. They said Marshall was extremely weak and had been forced to leave the smashed plane because of the sanitary conditions resulting from the deaths of his companions.

He had wandered, it was reported, through the dense jungles over since March 10. It was said that the plane was not completely destroyed and that it still contained the large gold cargo which had been destined for the government mint at Medellin.

Scout's Airline immediately dispatched a searching plane to determine definitely the truth of the report.

Explaining the plan, Mr. Carraway said the rate of interest is the lowest the government will permit, 7 1/2 per cent, and that the maximum loan will be $750. The loans will be made only on "clear" houses, and will not be used for refinancing. Cost of the papers will be $25 on a $500 loan, and 1 per cent per hundred dollars thereafter, and will be collected in cash in advance. The loans will be retired on a direct reduction plan, divided into monthly payments from five to 20 years.

A number of questions were asked and answered, and remarks were made by Mr. Spear and Mr. Smith. Mr. Smith closed the meeting by urging the craftsmen to start an aggressive plan to create jobs in Corsicana.

UNITED STATES ATTITUDE ON EUROPEAN ACTION IS GREATEST PROBLEM BRITISH NEGOTIATORS

By ALBERT W. WILSON Associated Press Foreign Staff. LONDON, April 5.—(AP)—The United States attitude in the event European nations agree on military and economic action against any European violator of a disarmament treaty was the chief question in the minds of British and disarmament bureau officials today as they began a series of conversations with Norman Davis, American Ambassador-at-large.

Davis talked to M. A. Aghnides, chief of the British disarmament conference, and experts to see Sir John Simon, British foreign minister, over the week-end. It was learned authoritatively that Britain, before committing herself to such a plan, would agree not to interfere if such an extreme or any lesser, penalty were invoked.

At the headquarters of Arthur Henderson, president of the disarmament conference, it was also stated that the American government's attitude is regarded as most important.

The British government previously has shown willingness to consider committing herself to such guarantees.

A French reply to the British query as to the exact nature of the guarantees the Paris government desires is not expected to reach the foreign office before Monday.

However, Britain has made it clear that she will not listen to any French demands for similar guarantees against an aggressor on any European frontier.

This stand eliminates any possible French aspirations for revival of the pre-war entente cordiale with England.

In view of the fact that the United States has refused to join Britain even in agreeing to consultations in the event of a disarmament violation, it is regarded as certain the United States would not take the further step of committing herself to sanctions.

However, it was indicated that more non-interference on the part of the United States would satisfy Great Britain.

HOTLY CONTESTED TRUSTEE ELECTIONS BE HELD SATURDAY

Hotly contested school trustee elections are expected to be held in a number of the school districts of Corsicana Saturday. In addition to the trustee elections in the various common and independent districts, three members of the county school board are up for re-election. O. L. Albright is a candidate for re-election as trustee-at-large, J. A. Jackson, precinct 2, and J. D. Story, precinct 1, appear on the tickets. Jackson resides at Powell and the polls will open at 8 o'clock Saturday morning and will close at 7 o'clock Saturday night.

All election supplies are ready for the election judges, C. E. McWilliams, county judge, stated Thursday morning.

A trustee election is to be held in the Corsicana school district Saturday.

Constable's Office.

The theft of a number of wrenches, and other tools and some gasoline from a tractor of the Guthrie-Coffield Oil company north of Corsicana sometime Tuesday night was reported to Constable W. B. Grantham Wednesday morning.

Tax Collector's Office.

There were fifty-eight new automobiles registered in the office of R. L. Harris, tax collector, during the month of March, as compared with 15 during March last year. The number is the largest in the past several years during one month, attaches of the office announced.

Tax Collector R. L. Harris received a communication from Geo. H. Sheppard, state comptroller, Wednesday, calling the attention of persons with delin-

(Continued From Page One.) named Welch drowned when Saline Creek southeast of Menard swept away their home, situated at a bend in the stream, and Mrs. D. H. Teal, 18, also of Menard, was washed away when the motor of her automobile stalled in a raging stream near Liano and she tried unsuccessfully to reach higher ground.

Rainfall, which began yesterday afternoon and continued until about midnight ranged from 2 to 10 inches over this sector.

So swift was the current in Saline creek that the bodies of Mr. and Mrs. Carroll were carried far downstream and their home was torn to bits. DeWitt Noguera, a neighbor ranchman, discovered that the house had been washed away and gave the alarm. Searching parties went out from this town immediately and found the bodies after a nine hour search.

Saline Creek usually is two or three yards wide and is shallow. It rises in Menard county and empties into the Llano river. Similarly heavy downpours were reported from many other parts of Texas. A light rain began at Abilene shortly after dawn. The overnight precipitation at Fort Worth was .72 inch, Denton, more than an inch; Dallas, 2.18 inches; Corsicana, .95 inch; Tyler, 4 inches; Austin, 1.03 inch and Galveston, .63 inch.

quent taxes due to the effect that additional penalties will be added after July 1, 1934. After July 1, 1934, six per cent interest and 10 per cent penalty will be added, only six per cent interest will be charged on delinquent taxes paid not later than June 30.

The legislature has passed several measures eliminating interest and penalties which is expiring.

After July, the following schedule is to be in force on delinquent taxes:

1930 taxes—30 per cent added.

1931 taxes—24 per cent.

1932—18 per cent.

SOME PRACTICAL HINTS

A HEATED FACIAL

Miss Forbes has a practical hint for you today if you give yourself facials and haven't a great deal of time or money to spend on them.

If you intend to give yourself beauty treatments, and want to spend as little time and money on them as you can, learn some practical method of treatment which is best for yourself, and then make a daily habit of it. You need not have a lot of cosmetics, nor a lot of implements, nor need you spend a great deal of time on yourself. For instance, you may want to make your face look fresh for an evening festivity, and you haven't a lot of time to spend on beautifying yourself. The old, safe formula for any facial is—cleanse, then stimulate the skin, and, finally, close the pores and tighten the muscles with astringent. Very well, then—cleanse with soap and hot water and a hot rinse. Rub a fair amount of nourishing cream into the opened pores. Then sit for three minutes or so before a rather hot fire—even before a hot open oven, anything so a blast of heat comes on your face. A gas fire, open fire, or electric fire does this. This brings up the blood, which freshens the face and makes it look smooth and young. It also makes the cream sink down into the pores. Wipe off with skin tonic, which closes the pores, and powder—and you'll be pleased with your face. This takes no time, and as a face treatment it is hard to beat. It is only one of many ideas which you can work out for yourself—things to suit your special way of life. The fake manure—which is simply rubbing the nails in lemon to clean them of stains and bleach them, followed by a scrubbing and a rubbing with cold cream, or better yet, tinted nail oil. This makes an old manicure look fresh and new again. Or any of the various dry, waterless shampoos, which make the hair clean and bright in no time.

Mario.—The change in the shape of your nose is likely due to your maturing, and there is nothing to be done about it. Try to improve the circulation around the roots of your eyelashes and that will help them grow. You do this by grasping a number of the hairs in your thumb and forefinger, the more hairs the better, and giving a vigorous tug. Go over the whole length of the lashes, on upper and lower lids each day.

For your friend's pimples, have her use any of the sulphur ointments on them after they have matured, as this keeps them from spreading, and suggest that she cleanse the system to get rid of the cause of the pimples.

Mrs. E. D.—I shall be glad to send you a stamped, self-addressed envelope for mailing.

B. E. M.—The only thing you can do is to go on bleaching the fine hair with peroxide, just as you have been doing, and pull out the coarse or the conspicuous hairs by using tweezers on them whenever they grow long enough to get hold of. Many women have no other method of keeping their skins cleared of superfluous hair, and they succeed with it. The lotion made from peroxide and ammonia is merely strong bleach and therefore something that weakens the vitality in the hair. It has helped rid some persons of this annoyance by literally drying out the hair until it dies and drops out, but it cannot be considered as a cure for the trouble.

G. S.—The drying effects of camphor will help some if you rub it into the fatty spots over your body. Never expect much from any external method for reducing pounds.

FLOODS

The Isaac Dick family, also reported lost, were safe.

Although several hundred searchers remained on the river, it was too foggy and misty for aerial observation.

Fifty emergency workers were kept at the Hammond relief station.

All the bodies were found one to three miles below the original sites of their homes.

In addition, two rescue workers whose capsized boat was found earlier telephoned Hammond from Butler to report they were safe.

A boat rescue crew of three youths, stranded in a tree-top when their craft capsized in a treacherous current, were rescued with ropes.

Their names were given as Eulin Taylor, Flay Pres and Lawrence Jackson.

Conservative estimates of damage to farms, bridges, roads and railroad tracks ranged between $500,000 and $1,000,000.

As rescuers took stranded families to treestops, knolls and floating houses, relief work, centered under the federal emergency relief administration, was expanding to care for the many left destitute by the wall of Red water.

Two hundred persons were eating at a Hammond hotel, made into a relief center and supplies of food, cots, and bedding were being distributed.

During the night the Lloyd family of three was found on a small island. Their house had been demolished. Five members of the Fulton family were taken from their homes by boat.

Leo Bush and his two boys were found southeast of Hammond. The Lloyd family was taken from a house in boats north of Hammond after spending nearly 20 hours in the water.

C. P. Smith, district fire engineer at Clinton, directed two boats that took three persons from treestops near Butler. He then directed the establishment of a sub camp at the City, a hamlet across the river from Hammond which can be reached only by boat, and said cots and blankets were en route from Fort Hill.

Under bridges and roads, however, retarded relief work as supply trucks were forced to drive a hundred miles out of the way to reach Hammond. The key to the road system in that area, the big Highway 66, east of Clinton, still was impassable, forcing detours by way of Hobart.

Santa Fe traffic northwest from Clinton and the Rock Island line in Clinton still was tied up by high water today. Rails were damaged in several counties.

At Watonga, the North Canadian river was out of its banks and flood waters were standing in the lowlands. About 400 feet under four inches of water, but traffic was proceeding slowly.

A survey of the Washita area by game rangers, E. H. McClanahan and Calvin Paxton, who started a 30-mile motor boat trip from Hammond.

Weatherly, 50, is a brother of Bob Weatherly of San Angelo, former Reagan county sheriff. He was released after the shooting last night under $1,000 bond, but no charges had been filed against him, pending developments.

A bullet passed completely through the 38-year-old cashier's body about three inches below his heart.

Card of Thanks.

Through the Corsicana Light we express our deepest love and gratitude to our many friends for their untiring services and kind words during the illness and death of our father and brother, J. S. Seeking Victims of Washita's Rampage ELK CITY, Okla., April 5.—(AP)—Rescue workers patrolled the receding Washita River today in search of its victims, believed to number sixteen.

The body of Stella Mae Fenter, 10, was recovered yesterday and hopes were abandoned for the survival of fifteen others missing in the torrent.

They were Mrs. A. M. Adams and five daughters, Opal, 18; Edith, 15; Audrey, 10; Lola, 8; and Velma, one; Mrs. Lawrence Taylor and one child; Mr. and Mrs. Bill Fenter, parents of Stella Mae, and two other children. All resided at Hammond.

More than a score of others were rescued by intrepid workers from roofs and trees. Some of the rescuers found themselves in need of succor, particularly a youth named Taylor of Lone Wolf, whose motor boat capsized and left him stranded in a tree-top.

Chief White Shield of the Red Moon reservation reported his people were safe.

Half Million Damage.

Damage to crops, farm property, highways and railroads, was estimated in excess of $500,000 by C. F. Smith, Clinton district engineer, assigned to relief work.

Quarters by Carl Giles, state federal emergency relief administrator.

Smith was given $3,500 federal funds for immediate relief.

The Red Cross and the National Guard also moved to aid, the former ordering the establishment of a relief base here, and the latter furnishing tents, cots and blankets. Airplanes, motorboats, ambulances and doctors were rushed to the area as soon as belated word of the disaster went out over disrupted communication lines.

After an aerial survey, Smith reported to Giles that at least ten of the dozen counties, which were required to rebuild bridges and culverts washed out by virtually every tributary of the Washita as well as by the Washita itself.

Ten Inches of Rain.

Despite the rapid fall of the flood waters, Smith estimated three days would be required for reopening highways and railroads, which were crippled over an area of half a dozen counties.

Clearing skies brought hope that the flood damage was at an end. Ten inches of rain fell in the vicinity of Cheyenne, upstream from Hammond, which bore the brunt of the sudden mad surge of the usually placid Washita.

Dozens of families awakened to the nightmarish realization their homes were being swept away as the river spread out to a width of two miles along a seven mile front.

Young Hurl Adams, 15, whose mother and sisters were among the missing, told of how the family was awakened by the flood.

After drifting "along for about a mile," he said, "suddenly the house hit something and everything went to pieces. I don't know where mother went. I managed to reach the bridge and found the others there. I guess the rest drowned because we never saw them again."

HAS GOOD REASON FOR REGISTRATION ALL KINDS WORKERS

OFTEN EMPLOYMENT NEAR AT HAND WHILE WORKERS SEARCH FOR IT

"A farmer may want a share-cropper—a merchant may need a clerk—a house a cook or maid—or a fertilizer company an agricultural chemist. That's why we accept registration of every imaginable type of unemployed local citizen who presents himself or herself at our office."

So reported Ray Morgan, acting manager of the U. S. Department of Labor's National Re-employment office here.

"One very sad thing about being unemployed and searching for work more or less aimlessly, is that the searcher often wanders by half a dozen employers who need additional help in the course of the daily search, little realizing he or she has brushed shoulders with work opportunities."

Mr. Morgan said. "On the other hand, an employer hesitates to broadcast his needs for fear of being swamped by an unnecessary number of applicants, causing inconvenience and loss of time for himself, and disappointment, and often resentment, to those who unsuccessfully apply."

The use of the local National Re-employment Office by both employer and employee therefore offers a logical means to each of obtaining direct results, without unnecessary contacts.

When a local employer places an order with Mr. Morgan, the "qualifications" of the job are determined—that is, the exact nature of the work to be done or position to be filled is recorded.

The files of the Re-employment office contain personnel cards of each unemployed registrant, which shows his or her essential work history, age, physical type, education and general adaptability.

The "qualifications" of the applicant are then matched to the "qualifications" of the job, and the whole transaction is handled impersonally, and entirely on the basis of merit and qualification.

WASHINGTON, April 4.—(AP)—Senator Huey P. Long of Louisiana was cursed today at a senate hearing and said "Let it go into the record."

Before a crowd that jammed the hearing on the confirmation of D. D. Moore as internal revenue collector in Louisiana—a Roosevelt nominee opposed by Long—the senator so aroused Col. John P. Sullivan of New Orleans that the latter muttered, "You know you can't prove that, you totten."

Sullivan's face was livid as he cursed Long under his breath but loud enough for Long to hear. Attorney Edward Rightor—counsel for Moore—grabbed Sullivan's arm as the tall, heavy-set sportsman stood up and scowled across the table.

"That's all right," Long said. "Let him say it. Let it go into the record."
